

Security and Migration: Challenges to the Liberal State

Raeburn Room, Old College
University of Edinburgh, 27th August 2007

11 a.m. Welcome

11.15 – 12.45 Panel 1

The Uneasy Relationship between Liberty and Security

Chair: Charles Raab (Edinburgh)

Didier Bigo (IEP, Paris) “The Uneasy Relationship: Illiberal Practices of Liberal States”

Elsbeth Guild (Nijmegen) “The European Arena: The Effects of Suspicion and Exception on Liberty and Security”

Discussant: Jo Shaw (Edinburgh)

12.45 – 2 p.m. Lunch (Raeburn Room)

2 – 3.30 p.m. Panel 2

Rethinking the Migration/Security Nexus

Chair: Roland Dannreuther (Edinburgh)

Georgios Karyotis and Stratos Patrikios (Strathclyde), “Religion, Securitisation and Anti-Immigration Attitudes: The Case of Greece”

Christina Boswell (Edinburgh), “Securitising Migration: A Risk for Liberal States”

Discussant: Nick Rengger (St. Andrews)

3.30 p.m. Close

The Symposium is being co-organised by the EU FP6 CHALLENGE Project, and the University of Edinburgh’s Migration and Citizenship Group. It is funded by the Radboud University of Nijmegen and the Europa Institute, University of Edinburgh.